

Code book for content categories for all types of local government agendas

”CAPCAS – Causes and Policy Consequences of Agenda Setting”

Introduction

The following code book is intended for the content coding of city council agendas. The code book is inspired by the international policy agenda code book, which, again, builds on the code book from the American Policy Agenda project developed by Frank Baumgartner, Bryan Jones, and John Wilkerson. Compared to the original Danish code book, some adjustments have been made regarding simple aggregations in order for the Danish data to follow the national and international code books. These changes primarily consist in some categories being divided into sub-categories, just as categories have been added to cover certain local subjects. By each content code, the corresponding number from the national Danish code book developed by Christoffer Green-Pedersen is given in parenthesis.

General principles for content coding

1. The code unit is each individual item on a given city council meeting agenda.
2. Each agenda item can only receive one content code. If two codes within one main category are equally applicable, it should be coded in the x00 category. If two different main categories are equally applicable, the agenda item should be assigned to the lowest main category.
3. The main concern is always to code as specifically as possible. For example, the district plan for a new shopping center should be coded 1530, and to the extent possible, it should only be coded 1412 (questions regarding planning), if it is not directly related to a different content category.
4. In the same way, nominations to, for example, councils and boards should, to the extent possible, be coded substantially in VAR2. For example, the appointment to an integration council should be coded 900 in VAR2 and, at the same time, be coded 1 in VAR3.
5. This means that district plans should, to the extent possible, be coded according to their substantial content. For instance, if the concern is the district plan for a business area, it is a 1400 category. It should only be coded 1412 if no other actual information is given apart from the fact that it concerns a district plan.
6. Agenda items that cannot be coded are given the number 99.

Variables to be coded

VAR1: Open or closed agenda item

- Code 1 if closed item

VAR2: Content category 1 (see content categories below)

VAR3: Nominations, appointments, work exemption/leave.

- Code 1 if the item concerns nominations, appointments, work exemption/leave (e.g., from the city council), job ads, and so on.

NOTE: Even if VAR2 is coded 2005, VAR3 should also be coded 1.

VAR4: Economy, budget, accounting, capital expenditure, supplementary grant

- Code 1 if the item explicitly involves economy, budget, accounting, capital expenditure, capital allowance, supplementary grant, loans.

VAR5: Invitation to tender, competition, privatization, free choice

- Code 1 if the item involves free-choice schemes, invitations to tender, exposure to competition, public-private partnerships/collaboration, contracting out, and so on.

VAR6: Performance

- This variable should be used if the agenda item refers to some kind of performance information. This could be user satisfaction surveys, assessments, quality reports or the like. The codes to be used are as follows:
 - 1: Quality reports/quality standards
 - 2: User satisfaction surveys
 - 3: Assessments/effect measurements/performance requirements
 - 4: Contracts with public authorities and organizations
 - 5: Register-based statistics (e.g., employment levels, grade levels in the public schools)
 - 6: Other things, for example, service declarations for an institution, “status of/for” attached to a code (including agenda items containing at least two different kinds of performance information). Performance pay, performance contract. Sickness absence reports. Benchmarking.

NOTE: In case of user satisfaction surveys within, for example, the day-care sector, the item should still be coded 1310 under VAR2.

VAR7: Collaboration with other authorities

- If the agenda item concerns some kind of collaboration with other local governments and/or authorities within it, including the region, this variable should be coded 1. Again, the agenda item should also have a content code. In case of collaboration on waste management, for example, the item should be coded 703 in VAR2. In case of collaboration without specification of policy area, the item should be coded 2026 in VAR2 and still have the code 1 in VAR7. The regional development council is an example of a collaboration that should be coded 1 in this variable.

VAR8: Comment

- Here the coder can describe a potential coding problem. Moreover, the coder can write “Google” if the agenda item requires a Google search or similar to be coded.

NOTE: Use VAR8 with care and only when absolutely necessary.
